To the Reader.

HOw profitable it is to obſerve theſe Forms which the Law approves, daily experience doth ſufficiently demonſtrate; for that thereby all aſſurances are rendred plain and manifeſt to every capacity, and fortified againſt all exceptions. And ſurely this captious age wherein we live, that ſo buſily examines and eagerly purſues all advantages and ſhifts whatſoever, will certainly drive every man to his juſt defence, and ſoe make this Book as welcome, as it is undoubtedly neceſſary.

Here is preſented to thy hand a faithful Collection of Preſidents of all ſorts, which for the variety will fit every mans occaſions; and for the plainneſs will be uſeful to any underſtanding, who may at all times readily find here ſuch Inſtruments, whether the diſtance of his abode, the haſt of his buſineſs, or any other cauſe do withhold him from ſeeking advice: for thoſe Inſtruments which are uſually drawn in Latine, here you ſhall find the proper Caſes both for the Names of the Perſons, their Additions, the Sums of Money, with the day of the date, only obſerving this throughout the whole, if A. be bound to B. then is A. the Obligor, and B. the Obligee: and if A. acknowledge a Recogniſance to B. then is A. the Conuſor, and B. the Conuſee.

And in this Impreſſion, to compleat the Deſign that was intended by this Book, are added the beſt Preſidents of all manner of Concords of Fines, and Directions how to ſue out a Fine, with many remarkable Obſervations therein will appear; alſo directions of Writs of Habeas Corpus, Writs of Error, &c. To the inferiour Courts in the ſeveral Cities, Burroughs, Hundreds, and Bailywicks of England; and the reſpective Mayors, Bailiffs, and Governours thereof; for default whereof, and Error wherein, ſo many nonſuits do daily happen, and Writs of Error are afterwards brought to the endangering of the whole Cauſe, and perplexity and vexation of the Client; which all ingenious Practiſers as they deſire, ſo here are rightly inſtructed how to avoid. There is alſo a Supplement to the Names both of Men and Women, with their ſeveral Trades and Employments rendred into Latine; ſo that nothing is wanting to anſwer every occurrence or emergent occaſion whatſoever of this Nature.

Hereby it will not be eaſie to miſtake, and cheaper then this no man can purchaſe greater quiet and ſecurity. Farewel.

Directions for ſuing out Fines, and making the Concords thereof; with ſeverall neceſſary Notes thereupon.

IT is called a Fine, Et Finalis concordia, quia imponit finem litibus.

Fines are Inſtruments of Record, of Agreements concerning Lands or other Hereditaments made moſt uſually upon Writs of Covenant in the Court of Common-Pleas, and are of ſuch force and efficacy in Law, that they are perpetual Barrs to all Parties to the ſame Fines and Eſtrangers, not proſecuting their Right in due time.

He who acknowledgeth the Fine, is called the Conuſor, and him to whom the Fine is levied, is called the Conuſee.

If the uſe of a Fine be not declared before nor after the Fine levied, it ſhall be intended to the uſe of the Conuſor, and his Heirs.

Infants (that is, all perſons under the age of one and twenty years) ought to have ſpecial care how they levy Fines, for unleſs they be reverſed by the Infants themſelves before they come of Age, they are good.

If a married Woman under Age levy a Fine of her own Lands, ſhe may not reverſe it, unleſs her Husband dye before ſhe come to full age.

If a married woman levy a Fine of her Joynture, ſhe will thereby loſe both that and her Thirds, if the Joynture were well ſettled before marriage.

It is requiſite, that either the Conuſor, or the Conuſee, be ſeized of the Lands in the Fine at the time of levying thereof, otherwiſe the Fine is void.

Perſons Outlawed, or waved in perſonal Actions, may alien by Fine.

To ſue out a Fine by Dedimus Poteſtat. to Commiſſioners in the Country, you are firſt to draw your Præcipe of the Writ of Covenant in Paper, and then write under, your Commiſſioners Names, four, or more, whereof one is to be a Knight, thus,

Ded. po. F. D. Milit. H. I. L. M. N. O. P. Q. generoſis.

Carry this to the Curſitor of the ſame County, and he will make your Dedimus Poteſtatem to take the Fine.

When you have your Ded. pot. then make ready your Concord to be fairly ingroſſed in Parchment; and ſee that the Land be exactly named, as in the Dedimus: The Forms of which Concords next follow.

Capt. & cognit. apud Civitatem Gloceſtr. in C. S. die &c. Anno Regni Dom. Caroli ſecundi nunc Regis Angliæ, &c. 16. coram.

And then let the Commiſſioners ſubſcribe their Names, which muſt be two at leaſt: Then write on the back of the Commiſſion thus:

Executio iſtius brevis patet in quadam ſchedula eidem brevi annexa; And let the Commiſſioners ſubſcribe their Names there.

According to the Tenor of the Writ, the Commiſſioners ſhould ſet their Seals to the Concord, which ſeemeth the beſt way, although it be often omitted at this day.

If a married Woman be a Cōnuſor, the Commiſſioners are to examine her privately, whether ſhe be willing to paſs the Fine, and do it without Threats or Fear of her Husbands diſpleaſure; which if ſhe confeſſeth, the Commiſſioners ought not to take her Cognizance.

If all the Conuſors cannot conveniently come to acknowledg the Fine at the ſame time, the Commiſſioners may take the Cogniſance of ſuch as are preſent; and the ſame Commiſſioners, or others, may take the Cogniſance of the reſt at another time, and then write under the Concord thus;

Capt. & cognit. per ſupradictos A. & B. apud C. in Com. S. primo die Julii, Anno Regni Dom. Car. Secundi Regis Angliæ, &c. decimo quinto coram.

Whereto the Commiſſioners muſt ſet their Hands as before; and when the reſt have acknowledged, let them, or other Commiſſioners named in the Dedimus, write the like for the reſt, and let all the Commiſſioners, who have taken the Fine, ſet their Hands to the back of the Will.

Note, That this Dedimus poteſtatem hath no certain Return, ſo that if you execute it any time within a Year after it is ſued out, it will be well enough.

Your Fine thus acknowledged, you muſt File the Dedimus and Concord together, and then carry it to the Curſitor for that County (at the Curſitors Office in Chancery-Lane, over againſt Lincolns-Inn) who will thereupon make your Writ of Covenant, which ought to bear Teſte before the Dedimus, becauſe it is ſuppoſed by the Dedimus to be then depending; but whether it be returnable before or after Caption of the Fine is not material, though they uſually make it returnable after the Caption. Your Writ of Covenant thus made, you are to carry to the Alienation-Office, where you are to compound for your Fine, according to the value of the Land, with one of the Commiſſioners there ſitting. If all that is paſſed in your Fine be not worth forty ſhillings by the Year, you muſt have one to make Affidavit of it before the Doctor there, and then you ſhall pay no Fine for Compoſition: Or if you know the value of the Land, or the Purchaſe-Money, you are to inform the Commiſſioners, that they may rate the Fine accordingly. If any Fine of the ſame Lands hath been paſſed not long before, you are to ſhew that, whereby you may perſwade the Commiſſioners to tax it ſomewhat the leſs. The Fine thus rated, you muſt go in to the Receiver in the ſame Office, and there pay the Fine of Compoſition, and ſix pence over for entring in the Receivers Book, and his ſigning the Writ. But if the Fine were taken by my Lord Chief Juſtice of the Common-Pleas, that ſix pence is not to be paid to the Receiver.

When you have paid the Fine, you carry the Writ to one of the Clerks in the ſame Office that ſits next Mr. Crew, who doth indorſe the Writ, for which you pay four pence: Then Mr. Crew's Hand, 4 pence: To the Clerk that ſits next by, who enters it, and hath ſix pence; But if it be after Term, a ſhilling: Then get two of the Commiſſioners Hands to your Writ, for which you pay nothing.

Having thus done at the Alienation Office, you are to carry your Writ again to the Curſitor, who writes under the Writ thus:

Pro dim. marc. ſolut. pro Fine; or otherwiſe as the Fine is, and will then get it ſealed for you: for which, when you fetch it away, you pay him two ſhillings ſix pence, and then he will deliver you your Concord and Dedimus again, which you left with him at the beſpeaking your Writ of Covenant.

Next you are to make your Warrant of Attorney in Parchment, as followeth;

D. ff. A. B. po. lo. ſuo N. C. Attornat. ſuum ad proſequend. breve con. verſus C. D. & E. uxorem ejus, de tenementis cum pertin. in F.

You are to carry your Warrant of Attorney, together with your Writ of Covenant, to the Clerk of the Warrants, who hath for filing the Warrant, and ſigning the Writ, four pence.

Next you are to carry your Writ to the Office, called Jones's Office in Brick-Court, Middle-Temple, who will return your Writ, and enter it, and hath for that one ſhilling ſix pence.

Note, For more expedition you may return your Writ your ſelf, before you carry it to the laſt mentioned Office; it is done thus;

Towards the upper end of the back of the Writ.	pleg. de. proſ.	Johannes Doe. Richardus Roe.
Towards the Middle Sum.		Johannes Denn. Richardus Penn.
Towards the bottom, the Sheriffs Name,		A. B. Miles, Vic.

Note, It muſt be the Sheriff that was in Office when the Writ was returnable.

Having gone thus far; you are to file your Writ of Covenant, Dedimus, and Concord together, and carry them to the Office of Cuſtos Brevium, where the Secondary, or his Clerks will enter it in his Book, and endorſe the Writ, for which you pay three ſhillings eight pence; from thence you carry it to the Kingſilver-Office in Lincolns-Inn, where the Fine for the value of the Land is entred, for which you pay in Suſſex fourteen pence, Surrey ten pence, moſt of the Weſtern Counties eighteen pence, &c. Hence you are to carry it to the Secondary at the Ciropraphers Office, who enters it in his Book, and hath for it in Term-time five ſhillings eight pence, after Term ſix pence more.

Then are you to deliver it to ſuch of the Clerks of the ſame Office, who write for the County where the Lands lye, who will engroſs the Indentures of your Fine; which, when you fetch from him, ſome convenient time after, he will demand of you three ſhillings ſix pence, if it be with one warranty onely; otherwiſe ſix pence a piece for every warranty more. How juſtly theſe Clerks demand this Fee of three ſhillings ſix pence I know not, formerly they never received more then two ſhillings ſix pence.

And thus have I led you through the ſeveral Offices where your Fines paſs: At many of which, you ſhall be enforced to wait long, and often to go and come again two or three dayes after, the Clerks hoping thereby to extort ſomewhat out of you for expedition: which, I conceive, Non expedit, for you cannot juſtly demand it of your Clyent. It is beſt therefore to begin with your Fines as ſoon in the Term as you can, which will ſave you many poſt Terminums.

Note, You may acknowledg a Fine in open Court, or before the Lord Chief Juſtice of the Common Pleas out of Court, or before any other Judg of that Court; or before the Juſtices of Aſſize in the Country, as well as by ſpecial Dedimus poteſtatem. And if you can conveniently have it acknowledged any of thoſe ways, it will be leſs charge to the Clyent.

The Lord Chief Juſtice of the Common-Pleas may, ex officio, out of Court take the acknowledgments of Fines without any Dedimus, &c. but none other; if therefore you are to acknowledg it before him, you muſt draw out the Præcipe and Concord fairly in Paper, and let the Conuſors ſet their hands to it; then go to my Lords Chamber, and deliver your Concord to him, who (the Parties being ready) will take their Acknowledgments, for which you pay eleven ſhillings eight pence; and my Lord himſelf will keep the Concord thus made in Paper, and you are to go to his Clerk ſome time after, who will engroſs it in Parchment, and get my Lords hand to it, which when you have from him, you are to go on through the ſeveral Offices as before.

Note, For more expedition, you may engroſs your Concord in Parchment before you go to acknowledg the Fine, and then have my Lords Hand to it at the ſame time when you carry your Concord in Paper; which my Lords Clerk will better like, and will be leſs trouble to you.

If you acknowledg a Fine before any other Judg, you muſt go with your Concord in Paper as before, and then after the Fine acknowledged, you may ſue out a general Dedimus poteſtatem, directed to that Judg that took the Fine; which if you carry to his Clerk, he will engroſs the Concord upon the back of the Dedimus, and get the Judges hand to it; for which, beſides the Judges Fee, you pay his Clerk ſixteen pence, and no more, if it be a Fine in ſeveral Counties; Thence are you to proceed as before is directed.

An exact Table, ſhewing how many Years Purchaſe a Leaſe or Annuity, to endure for a term of years under 33, is worth preſently at Intereſt upon Intereſt, at ſix in the hundred; and ſhewing plainly how to diſcount any Leaſe in being, and the true value of the Reverſion after any number of Years.

Again, you are to take or buy the Reverſion of any Leaſe or Annuity.

WOrk thus; Suppoſe the Leaſe to be 30 years in all, you find in the ſecond Table, and right hand againſt it 13 years, 9 Moneths, and two tenth parts of a Moneths Purchaſe; This it were worth, were it in preſent poſſeſsion: But ſuppoſe there be a Leaſe of five years (more or leſs) before yours commence, look in the Table againſt the five years, and there you find four years, two Moneths, and five tenth parts, half a Moneths Purchaſe: Take this out of the ſum againſt 30, which is 13, 9, 2, 4, 2, 5; the remainder is 9 years, 6 months, 7 tenth parts of a moneth, and ſo much in the Reverſion after 5 years, worth the Remainder of 30 years; this is uſeful, and very eaſie.
